

Reviewing the Workers' Compensation Reporting Process

Workers' Compensation Reporting

The Workers' Compensation reporting process can be complicated. With the increasing turnover in municipalities, new employees whose job it is to report and track Workers' Compensation claims are sometimes unsure as to what is required of them. Below is a link to a video presentation by Peggy Doherty, Senior Claims Adjustor of MIIA Member Services that highlights the different elements involved in the reporting process for those who may be in need of some guidance.
