Discussion will include analysis of workers' compensation liability for infectious diseases in Massachusetts. Infectious disease is defined in the workers' compensation statute and there is additional case law. Such claims require close investigation of the actual exposure to the virus and the nature of the particular employment, as well as legal analysis of complex causation standards. All claims involving COVID-19 are assessed on a case-by-case basis. Additionally, given the ongoing pandemic, many employees are working from home.

Discussion will include workers' compensation exposure for employees who claim an injury while working from a remote location.

Presenting this discussion is Niko Pappas, Director of MIIA WC Claims.
